

To whom it may concern

As an indoor grower of medical marijuana, the process is complex and expensive. Therefore I am continually testing input products to enhance yield and quality.

I am totally amazed with the end results I am experiencing using your product "UNLEASH". By far the most significant improvements in yield and quality of product I have ever realized, and I have been growing for years using different compost teas and other means.

I did a control test on 35 of my plants and found out that the buds were thicker and heavier. We had less air buds and the flowering time was cut down, meaning the plants matured more rapidly.

Until now, I felt that my compost tea is so perfect. However to my excitement with UNLEASH, I got over 25 percent increase in weight, which translates into significant more product. An additional benefit was cutting down on trim time, which also saved time and the product was more impressive, which made the demand for it higher

I am very excited about continual use of your product. The opportunity for broader grower use is phenomenal. With this kind of yield increase and density, I regret that I did not apply it to my other 35 plants.

My growing season is 65 days. I am very serious about the healthiness of my plants. Therefore I began my first test run over 4 months ago, and, to assure myself that it is real, I did a second run with the same results.

Thank you for your ongoing support and interest. The professionalism of your company is respected and appreciated.

Yours truly

Daniel
