a better world in the making™

Artisans in Indonesia use wax to resist-dye sengon wood in an intricate process known as batik.

Women artisans in East India receive improved working conditions while embroidering recycled sari.

Artisans in Bangladesh carve detailed designs into natural terracotta clay planters, breadwarmers & decor.

Sustainable sisal grass is woven into colorful baskets by master weavers in eSwatini.

Due to COVID-19, some products may be delayed, and substitutions in Trunk Show collections may occur. Thanks for your understanding, patience and critical support of our artisan and farmer partners.
